Bachelor and graduate programs on state college campuses

Students can earn bachelor and graduate degrees in certain programs on most two-year state college campuses. These degree programs are offered by the seven state universities in cooperation with the colleges. In addition, some upper-division courses that count toward four-year degrees but do not constitute a degree program are offered by the state universities on college campuses. For more information about a specific program, contact the college by going to www.mnscu.edu and clicking on Explore our system. Other institutions of higher learning also may offer some degree programs on state college campuses. Program offerings are subject to change.

Minnesota Online (www.mnonline.org) also offers more than 200 programs that are predominately online.

The Minnesota State Colleges and Universities system comprises 32 state universities and community and technical colleges serving the higher education needs of Minnesota. The system serves about 240,000 students per year in credit-based courses and an additional 135,000 students in non-credit courses. The Minnesota State Colleges and Universities system is an Equal Opportunity employer and educator. This document can be made available in alternative formats upon request.
